More Discussion of Guaranty of Deposits by the Association of Bankers.

VOTE WAS NOT UNANIMOUS

GENERAL CONVENTION TO DEAL WITH POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 29.—The trust company section of the American Bankers' association went on record this afternoon in opposition to the bank deposit guaranty proposition, making the third subsidiary association of the American Bankers to declare itself on this subject. A motion to vote on the proposition for postal savings banks was defeated. All the speeches made were against postal savings banks plan, but it was the sense of the meeting that as the savings bank section had already voted against it, and as it was scheduled to come up before the general convention, there was no need of the trust section voting on the subject. The resolution against the guaranty of bank deposits was offered by F. H. Fries of Winston-Salem, N. C., who acted for the legislative committee. The introduction of the resolution precipitated a debate, led by Breckenridge Jones of St. Louis in the negative, as to whether the section had a constitutional right to consider any proposition not of exclusive interest to the trust companies. After a parliamentary tangle the resolution carried, 74 to 5.

Officers Elected.

Officers were elected as follows:
President—A. A. Jackson, vice president of the Girard Trust company of Philadelphia.
Vice President—H. P. Mackintosh, president of the Guardian Savings company of Cleveland.
Executive Committee—New members, A. L. Abrahams of Denver, F. H. Fries of Winston-Salem, Howard Bayne of New York, John Stiles of Louisville, E. J. Parker of Quincy.

During the presentation of reports of the vice presidents, E. F. Enright of St. Joseph made a suggestion that it would be advantageous to the trust companies if a law could be enacted authorizing the publishing the national trust company along the same line as national banks. This suggestion started a lively discussion. The no effort was made to place the section on record on the proposition. Practically all of the vice presidents reported that the effects of last year's panic were a thing of the past.

Unanimous Against Guaranty.

Among those called upon for a few remarks during the afternoon was Clark Williams of New York, former president of the trust company section. He said that 20 per cent of the banking power of the United States was in New York, and that it was unanimous against the guaranty of bank deposits.
In an address on "The Trust Company as a Necessity," Breckenridge Jones charged that over again national banks have acted as agents and depositories for the safekeeping and consolidation and reorganization of corporations without legal power, and as such had outstanding hundreds of millions of dollars worth of receipts and interim certificates.

WHITMAN FEELS AGGRIEVED

Octoroon Who Figured in Recent Divorce Controversy Makes a Statement.

C. W. Whitman, whose wife was awarded a decree of divorce Monday, feels that he has been placed in a false position as a result of the suit.

Originally Mrs. Whitman made some ugly charges against her husband, and he came back with an answer in which it was stated that Mrs. Whitman had been blood in her veins. Later Mrs. Whitman withdrew the serious charges against her husband and the decree was awarded on the ground of desertion.
Mr. Whitman said last night that he came west with his wife from Toledo and left her in this city when he went to Pioche to look up a business location. He asserts that upon his return he found her masquerading as a Spanish woman under the name of Inez Gomez. He says she had formed new acquaintances during his absence and showed a determination to sever all relations with him.

Mr. Whitman is very frank in admitting his own lineage; in fact, seems rather proud of it. He has credentials showing that his father, A. A. Whitman, who died seven years ago, was known as the poet laureate of the colored race and was a man of good standing in his home city, Atlanta, Ga. The elder Whitman was born in slavery, the son of a Spaniard and a mulatto woman. Mrs. Whitman, the mother of C. W. Whitman, is the daughter of a French woman who married a Cherokee Indian. C. W. Whitman is thus an octoroon, and frankly casts his lot with the colored race. He has received recommendations from people of standing in the south. His sisters are now appearing in vaudeville as Mrs. Whitman's sisters, and they, too, make no attempt to disguise their colored blood. Mr. Whitman has a certified copy of his birth license, issued at Birmingham, Ala., in 1902, which stipulates that both parties are colored. He feels aggrieved that in Salt Lake Mrs. Whitman should assume the position of a white woman.

DEMOCRATS NAME WINNING TICKET

Weber Democracy Holds Harmonious Convention and Adopts Platform.

In a convention where peace and harmony prevailed the Democrats of Weber county yesterday selected their county ticket and adopted a platform, to the provisions of which all the candidates named are pledged. Local option is favored in the platform and many other important points are touched upon.

The convention was one of the best attended in years and much interest was taken in all of the proceedings. There was in most cases a spirited rivalry for the various nominations. A great deal of the speechmaking which ordinarily occupies much of the time at such gatherings was eliminated and the work executed with dispatch. Each precinct in the county was represented by the full quota of delegates. In the afternoon there was a larger number of visitors and the hall was comfortably filled. A number of large portraits of William Jennings Bryan graced the walls of the building and a large American flag was draped across the speaker's desk.

Long applause followed the reading of each separate plank of the platform which was read by Tillman D. Johnson, chairman of the platform committee. Especially is true of the plank favoring local option. The mention of Bryan's name brought forth loud applause and Mr. Johnson's ovation when he completed the reading.

Immediately after W. W. Browning had made a motion to the effect that the emblem adopted by the rooster in a defiant attitude, a rooster in a neighboring yard began crowing lustily a number of times. By many this was taken as an indication that victory was in the air for the Democrats this fall.

Dr. Conroy Was Chairman.

The convention was called to order at 11:30 a. m. by Chairman Samuel Thomson, who named as temporary chairman Dr. E. M. Conroy and J. G. Widdison as temporary secretary. Upon assuming the chair, Dr. Conroy in a regular address outlined President Roosevelt and his administration for activity in politics, as well as the effects of last year's panic were a thing of the past.

The speaker began his remarks by calling the attention of the convention to the fact that there never was a time like the present in the history of the country for Democracy to score a victory. He said that for many years the Republicans' main cry was that all panics occurred during Democratic administration, but now the tables had turned and the Republicans found that during their administration one of the worst panics that the country had ever seen was on their hands. This condition, he stated, branded the Republican administration as a failure.

In speaking of the Republican nominee for president, Chairman Conroy said that the choice of the nominee or choice of the people, but was not to be made by the choice of the people. His nomination was not made by one man and no convention was called to confirm the nomination. The president was severely condemned in the strongest terms by the speaker, who held that he was trying to make the people endorse his successor in office. He declared that the president could not even keep his own mind and that his latest work was that of sending an emissary, Secretary Wilson, to Salt Lake City to help fix things for the national campaign.

Smoot as an Issue.

Dr. Conroy branded as deplorable the activity of any religious denomination in politics. He said the continuation of the Smoot in the United States senate was detrimental to the state of Utah. He said that if Senator Smoot was not satisfied with his ecclesiastical position, he should resign and come out in the open where the Democrats could fight him. The speaker said he would like to see him in Utah when religion was not mixed in politics and especially where such perverted and political positions at the same time. This he declared to be the paramount issue in the fall campaign.

The following committee were appointed: Resolutions—Mrs. E. T. Oakley, W. G. Kind, F. E. Kinnam, Clem Martin, J. C. Davis, William Lowder, Thomas Hollands and Alonzo Stephens.
Organization—Glen Hill, C. H. Tribe, Sam Thomas, S. T. Whitaker, G. W. Baker, Lee Hammond, F. H. Wright and D. D. McKay.
Resolutions—S. A. Maginnis, Henry Anderson, J. S. Dee, T. D. Johnson, S. S. Smith, J. Anderson, Preston Blair and H. P. Green.

A recess was then taken until 2 p. m. to enable the committees to prepare their reports. At the afternoon session the permanent officers named by the committee on organization were: W. F. Bosner, chairman; John L. Herrick, secretary; Adam L. Peterson, treasurer; Adam Glenhill and Henry Green, assistant secretaries; Rev. N. S. Elderkin, chaplain, and A. G. Harris, sergeant-at-arms.
After the prayer by the chaplain the reports of the committees on credentials and resolutions were received and adopted. The committee recommended the seating of 138 delegates, apportioned through the city and county as was stated in the platform.

Platform Is Adopted.

We, the Democrats of Weber county in convention assembled, do hereby pledge allegiance to the principles contained in the platform of our party adopted at the national convention at Denver and the state convention at Logan, and pledge our loyal support of the candidates named at these conventions.

We rejoice in the growth of the principles of Democracy, and invite men of every political faith to unite with us in the election of William J. Bryan, the greatest living advocate of popular rights, whose ideal of democratic government is that the people should govern.

We pledge the candidates nominated by this convention to favor and support: Laboring organizations for the public roads and highways of the county and state.

The enactment by the state legislature of a law providing for a railroad commission.

The enactment of laws rendering effective the constitutional amendment adopted by the vote of the people of this state at the election in 1900, providing for direct legislation.

We believe that in a country where the people rule they should have the right to pass judgment by their vote upon the questions vitally affecting their interests, no matter whether that question is the voting of bonds by a public municipality, which will permit the sale of public lands, or whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be allowed or prohibited in the community.

Local Option Pledge.

We believe in local option and pledge the candidates of this convention for the state legislature to so vote.

We call attention to the packed convention and fraudulent primaries held by the Republican party in this county, no longer ago than last week, and demand in the name of political decency and morality the enactment of a primary law which will permit the sale of public lands, or whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be allowed or prohibited in the community.

We also commend that provision of our national platform favoring the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and we are convinced that such a measure would shortly relieve the people of the state of Utah of much of their present troubles. It is a fact that ever since Apostle Reed Smoot entered into an active political career, his politics and was elected United States senator, the highest office in the gift of the people of a state, he has been the source and cause of strife and bitterness among our own people, and has brought upon us the suspicion of the people of the entire United States. We believe that the peace of our people, their mutual good will and happiness is of more concern than the ambition for office, and we pledge the candidates of this convention to do all in their power to secure the election of a successor to Reed Smoot.

We believe that municipalities should be conducted on democratic principles and its officers elected without reference to politics; we therefore pledge the candidates of this convention to favor and support the enactment of a law along the lines of what is known as the Galveston or Des Moines plan of city government, to be held applicable to all cities of the state.

Believing that the best interests of the nation, the state and our county, demand the retirement of Republicans from power and the election of men more nearly in touch with the common people of the nation, we therefore pledge the citizens of this county for the Democratic ticket and its candidates.

Want Des Moines Plan.

We believe that municipalities should be conducted on democratic principles and its officers elected without reference to politics; we therefore pledge the candidates of this convention to favor and support the enactment of a law along the lines of what is known as the Galveston or Des Moines plan of city government, to be held applicable to all cities of the state.

Believing that the best interests of the nation, the state and our county, demand the retirement of Republicans from power and the election of men more nearly in touch with the common people of the nation, we therefore pledge the citizens of this county for the Democratic ticket and its candidates.

Nominations Are Begun.

Upon motion of E. S. Rolapp the order of business was so changed that the nomination of state senator and representatives followed after those of the county officers.

Nominations being in order, Rev. N. S. Elderkin placed the name of John L. Herrick before the convention for nomination for county commissioner for the four-year term. Mr. Herrick was nominated by acclamation.

Resolutions—Glen Hill, C. H. Tribe, Sam Thomas, S. T. Whitaker, G. W. Baker, Lee Hammond, F. H. Wright and D. D. McKay.
Resolutions—S. A. Maginnis, Henry Anderson, J. S. Dee, T. D. Johnson, S. S. Smith, J. Anderson, Preston Blair and H. P. Green.

A recess was then taken until 2 p. m. to enable the committees to prepare their reports. At the afternoon session the permanent officers named by the committee on organization were: W. F. Bosner, chairman; John L. Herrick, secretary; Adam L. Peterson, treasurer; Adam Glenhill and Henry Green, assistant secretaries; Rev. N. S. Elderkin, chaplain, and A. G. Harris, sergeant-at-arms.

After the prayer by the chaplain the reports of the committees on credentials and resolutions were received and adopted. The committee recommended the seating of 138 delegates, apportioned through the city and county as was stated in the platform.

Mr. Martineau in Town.

Lyman R. Martineau, Democratic nominee for congress, who will speak from the same platform from which Joseph Howell, the Republican candidate, will speak at the fair grounds this morning, was in Ogden yesterday for a short time. He stated that he was receiving much encouragement throughout the state.

Bilious Troubles

Bile causes no end of trouble. Sick headaches, bilious attacks, jaundice, constipation and many distressing ailments arise from an excess of bile, or from obstruction of the bile duct. Inactivity, sedentary occupations and indiscretion in feeding and drinking are bile blunders that need to be guarded against. When the liver is disordered the best bile correctives are because they relieve the overworked liver, and gently stimulate it when it is sluggish. These pills control the flow of bile, restore its right consistency, and work for the immediate and lasting benefit of the stomach, bowels and blood. Whenever a furred tongue, dull, yellowish eyes, nausea, or headache indicate bilious conditions, use Beecham's Pills at once, to correct the bile and

FROST CANNERS AND FARMERS SUSTAIN A HEAVY LOSS AND MANY MEN WILL LOSE WORK.

It is reported that the recent frost has thrown many men out of work and caused great losses to the farmers and canneries. It is estimated that at least 85 per cent of the remaining tomato crop has been destroyed, and that within a few days nearly all the canning factories will be forced to close a season which had fairly opened.

Demurrer Is Sustained.

In the district court yesterday Judge Howell sustained the demurrer to the complaint in the libel suit brought by the Salt Lake Auditorium association against the Utah State Journal. The action arose from an article published in the Journal last spring in which the writer condemned skating rinks.

Children's Day at Fair.

Today will be children's day, as well as the opening of the Fair at Ogden. It is estimated that at least 2,500 free tickets have been issued among the pupils. The school will be closed for today.

Change of Chief Clerks.

At Southern Pacific headquarters in this city yesterday it was announced that the late Chief Clerk of the Southern Pacific, L. L. Hoskins, had been named as chief clerk to Superintendent E. C. Manson. No reason is given for the change, but Hoskins has announced no definite plans for the future.

BARRETT HALL DEDICATED

In Memory of Henry Barrett, Formerly Member of Utah Light Artillery.

An interesting announcement comes from Camp Kethley, Mindanao, in the Philippines, of the dedication there of a Barrett hall, so called in honor of Henry Barrett, formerly a member of battery C, Utah light artillery. The dedication took place Aug. 26 last, and was held in the morning. The hall was dedicated to the memory of Henry Barrett, who was killed while serving in the Philippine constabulary in August, 1904.

POLICE COURT GLIMPSES

F. D. Shepard was found guilty, before Judge Diehl yesterday, of battery on the person of Lyman, 14-year-old boy. The case of Corbin Allen, who was arrested by Detective Harris Monday night on a charge of gambling did not come before the court yesterday, but was postponed until today for the purpose of giving City Attorney Rogers time to consider whether or not an offense had been committed.

Allen at the time of his arrest carried six new pistols, which he said he was demonstrating for the New York Novelty company, through its agent, the Salt Lake Hardware company. The pistols consisted of a ball and wheel in miniature of a regular roulette outfit. It is called the parlor Monte Carlo and is about the size of a watch.

Allen asserted that H. E. Houston, the man who had him arrested, was under the influence of liquor at the time he was demonstrating. The only regrettable circumstance connected with the whole affair was that Mr. Houston had a loose $50 gold piece which he played on a number just for fun. As luck would have it, the case was stopped at the number on which Houston had his money. He demanded that he be paid, and Allen refused on the ground that he was paying no bets, but just demonstrating the machine. Then Houston got sore and had him arrested for gambling. The case will come up before Judge Diehl today.

BRINES SONG RECITAL

It was a splendid program, a program of wonderful possibilities, all of which were realized, that M. J. Brines presented to his audience at the First Congregational church last night. Every number, from the opening to the closing one, possessed artistic merit.

Beginning with the glorious recitative "Comfort Ye," from Handel's "Messiah," the rich tones of the singer's voice rang through all the fullness of the song, closing with the sacred hymn "Every Valley." This was followed by Verdi's "Celeste Aida," which was probably the most ambitious, if not the most difficult, of the numbers. A group of German songs, two of them by Eugene Haulle, followed, the group closing with two favorite selections, "Du Bist Die Ruh," by Schubert, and "Lockruf," by Ruckauf.

A group of French songs, opening with the "L'heure Exquise," followed, this group containing Victor Hugo's beautiful poem "Oh, While I Sleep," which was certainly one of the gems of the evening's entertainment. Three gypsy songs by Dvorak gave opportunity for the weird tones for which that composer is known.

The closing numbers were English, Scotch and Irish ballads, for which Mr. Brines possesses ability rare in the best singers. Two songs of this group were sung by Herbert Witherpoon, the great tenor, who was heard here last year, and certainly Mr. Brines' singing suffered nothing by comparison. These were "Forever and Day" and "Mother of Mine."

The applause was hearty and genuine all through the program, and at the end, when the singer had finished "The Little Girl," the audience still demanded more, and he returned and sang "You'd Better Ask Me."

Mr. Brines was perfectly accompanied by Mrs. Judith Evans Brines. In addition, Mrs. Brines sang two beautiful selections, "Grillen," by Schumann, and a composition by Reinhold. A number of the short ballads were TESTED.

(Philadelphia Inquirer.)
The proprietor of a tanyard was anxious to fix a suitable sign to his premises. Finally, a happy thought struck him. He bored a hole through the door post and stuck a calf's tail into it, with the tufted end outside.
After a while he saw a solemn faced man standing near the door, looking at the sign. The tanner watched him a minute, and stepped out and addressed him.
"Good morning, sir," he said.
"Yes," the man said, "other, without taking his eyes off the sign."
"Do you want to buy leather?" asked the tanner.
"No."
"Perhaps you've got some hides to sell?"
"No."
"Are you a farmer?"
"No."
"What are you, then?"
"I am a philosopher. I've been standing here for nearly an hour, trying to find out how that calf got through that hole."

ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA. The Lion Tells Why He Didn't Eat Him Alive.

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)
Continuing their retreat beyond the Ruwenzori mountains, the animals were overtaken by a badly mutilated lion. He limped, one of his ears was shredded, and his neck and shoulders were terribly gashed and bleeding. They all laughed as he came up. "Thought you were going to stay and have it out with him?" they asked. "How did it happen?" they asked. He trotted out ahead, but they moved up with him, amused and curious. "Did you have it out with him?" They all laughed and pointed at this, and tears dripped from the lion's cheeks. "Maybe he killed him," one of them ventured. He shuddered, and pushed on toward the interior. "Of course," said one of the hippos. "He leaped upon him from a tree and ate him alive, just as he said he would." They all screamed at this, and a big rhino said: "It is all plain enough. Our brother here engaged him in mortal combat, and before he dispatched him he received a few trifling scratches." They all roared with laughter. "I can see it just as it happened," said one of the gorillas. "Our brother was in the tree as he came along. Between them was a big thorn bush. Our brother leaped through this thorn bush to get at him, which accounts for his shredded ear and the slashes on his head and shoulders." The mountains resounded with fresh peals of laughter, and one of the elephants said: "No, it was like this: Our brother was standing in the trail as he came up. He was a little lame. Our brother finally outtrodd him, and when he fled, pursued him. It was while chasing him through the wait-a-bit thorns that our brother got all his wounds."

They all whooped again, and one of the wildebeests lay down and rolled. Meanwhile the lion limped on unheeding.

"O, come," they urged, "tell us about it." Coming to a slight eminence, he told them the story. He was very meek. The fur on his cheeks was matted with tears. "Hear!" they cried. "He will tell us!" "Yes," he said. "I will make a clean breast of it. Anything to escape your trust, I make no excuse. I offer no apology. The simple truth is that I laid for him, as I said I would, and he bit me first, as he probably said he would."

That he resumed the long limp, and the animals began quarrelling about how far it was to the lake called Ozo.

WHEN THE KIDNEYS GIVE OUT

Backache, Rheumatism and Bladder Troubles Make Life Miserable.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sick kidneys in old or young. There is not a particle of narcotic or poisonous drugs in this remedy. It is recommended publicly by thousands.

SALT LAKE CITY PROOF.

O. E. Moody, 39 South Sixth West St., Salt Lake City, Utah, says: "I doubt if there is any kidney remedy on the market today that will cure backache as quickly and thoroughly as Doan's Kidney Pills. I was bothered for six months or more by my back, but I did not know what was the cause of my trouble. If I sat down for a short time it was only with great difficulty that I could get up, and any stooping or lifting sent sharp pains through my back and kidneys. I was driven to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, and though I had some doubts as to their being able to help me, I obtained a box at F. J. Hill, Co.'s drug store. To my surprise the pain in my back gradually disappeared, and soon it became a thing of the past. This happened over a year ago, and I have been free from any sign of the trouble since."
